The premise of our theme: To challenge this generation to be empowered by Jesus Christ and be used to multiply the gospel message of love, hope, faith, and healing during these negative times.

This staff manual is prepared to acquaint you with the organizational, physical, and management aspects of Youth Camp. Many of you have seen this manual before. There have been a few changes, so please take a few minutes to look through it.

We look forward to another “Fruitful” year of camp. Working together as a team with one common purpose is the key to the success of Camp. Let us continue to pray for each other as well as the campers that will attend.

Thank you! Thank you! You are invaluable to me and this ministry. Your work has eternal purposes and I’m so glad we’re on the same team. Please join us in prayer and fasting that we might be excellent in ministry, the Lord will be pleased, and lives will be changed forever. Let me know if you have any questions or suggestions.

▪ Notes:

Incident Reporting Procedures

If you have any concerns regarding the safety of a child, then they should be reported to the appropriate person who will then work with you on what action needs to be taken. All incidents should reported on the incident report form and turned into the administrative staff.

Any person who has reasonable grounds to believe that a child (or children) is in need of protection is legally required to report the matter to a social worker in the local office of the Ministry for Children and Families. A person who knowingly fails to report in these circumstances is in violation of the law and may be found to have committed an offense.

Abuse or neglect need not have already occurred for a child to be in need of protection; it is not necessary to wait until a child has been harmed to intervene. When abuse or neglect can be reasonably anticipated and there are reasonable grounds to believe a child is in need of protection, the legal obligation to report applies.

Historical abuse or neglect, that is, abuse or neglect which occurred in the not very recent past, must be reported wherever there are reasonable grounds to believe that a child may be in need of protection. If the alleged offender is in regular contact with a child or children, even if it is the same child or children abused in the past, there may be grounds to believe that the child or children are at risk based on the offender's past behavior. It is particularly vital to report these cases where the alleged abuser is in a position of trust concerning children, such as a teaching position.

Discuss Suspicious Behavior Immediately

Any inappropriate conduct or relationship between adult volunteer workers and a youth or a child must be confronted immediately and investigated. Prompt warnings must be issued when appropriate, and the situation monitored very closely. The adult worker's services should be terminated immediately for continued violation of sufficient gravity. Ministry Leaders should note when a youth or child appears aloof or withdrawn, or exhibits a marked personality change. This may indicate a problem that deserves attention.

IMPORTANT:

As soon as possible after the incident comes to your attention:

- Contact the appropriate people and/or agency. Do not attempt an in-depth investigation. This should be left to professionals who are familiar with these cases.
- Do not prejudge the situation, but take the allegations seriously and reach out to the victim and the victim's family. Showing care and support help to prevent further hurt.

- Extend whatever pastoral resources are needed. Remember that the care and safety of the victim is the first priority. In some situations, churches have responded in a negative or non-supportive manner to the alleged victim. This can increase the anger and pain of the victim and the victim's family. Future reconciliation will be more difficult. The possibility of damaging litigation increases.
- Treat the accused with dignity and support. If the accused is a church worker, that person should be relieved temporarily of his or her duties until the investigation is finished. If the person is a paid employee, arrangements should be made to either maintain or suspend his or her income until the allegations are cleared or substantiated.

Confidentiality

In these matters it is important to keep the information restricted to those who need to be advised, therefore, all suspicions of abuse should be directed only to the person responsible for that department or the senior pastor. It is the responsibility of the pastoral staff to contact the local office of the Ministry for Children and Families.

The only claim of confidentiality that overrides the legal duty to report is solicitor-client privilege. Thus physicians, clergymen and others who consider their professional relationships confidential for certain purposes are not exempt from the duty to report child abuse or neglect.

Responding to the Child

When the child first comes to you, be sure to take his or her word seriously. Don't deny the problem, but stay calm and listen to the child. Give emotional support, reminding the child that he or she is not at fault. Tell the child that he or she was right in telling you about the problem. Do not promise the child you will not tell anyone.

EMERGENCY PROCEDURES

FIRE PROCEDURES

1. Listen for air (bull) horn and instructions
2. Campers and staff go to the nearest basketball court or flagpole
3. take attendance – account for all in camp
4. begin fire operation – campers remain under supervision
5. staff use fire extinguishers
6. call 911- Fire Department (only in the event of smoke or an actual fire)

SEVERE WEATHER:

- Listen for air (bull) horn and instructions
- Campers and staff go to center field, the basketball courts or flagpole. If thunder and lightning, remain in the building or go to the nearest building in a safe location.
- Camp directors check your camper list to ensure all your campers are present.

Night-time Fire Procedures: All room empty out and go to the basketball courts for a head count when air horn is sounded. Then stay in places while runner is sent to the main office for location of the fire. Wait for further instructions as to whether it is safe to walk to the basketball courts for assembly as noted in the instructions above. (Be sure to account for all staff, check for each camper, and report “All Clear” to director)

NOTE: Everyone is to observe these Emergency Procedures – no matter what you are doing. Any camper or “unauthorized staff” who sounds an emergency blast will be subject to immediate dismissal from camp.

MEDICAL EMERGENCY:

Immediately – send a runner to the nurse’s station. If the nurse is not in the station, check note on the door to locate the nurse.

The Nurse/EMT/Camp Director or their appointee will contact as necessary:

- A) The Ambulance Service 911
- B) Bon Secours Hospital. 160 E. Main Street, Port Jervis, N.Y. 12771. Phone: (845) 858-7000
- C) The Poison Control Center: 800-336-6997

BASIC FIRST AID UNTIL NURSE ARRIVES:

Bleeding: Most bleeding can be controlled by direct pressure over the wound.

Nose Bleed: Encourage the patient to sit upright with the head back or to recline with the head shoulders supported. Holding the nostrils together, with a piece of tissue or a clean cloth, pinch gently probably around three (3) minutes.

Heat Exhaustion: A person who has been exposed to the heat or to sun and who complains of fatigue, headache, upset stomach, and whose skin may feel flushed, may be suffering from heat exhaustion. Have patient lie down in shade if available and loosen tight clothing. Put cool compress to forehead.

Object in Nose: Keep patient as quiet as possible. Have him or her blow gently to try to dislodge object. Do not do anything further until professional help arrives.

Object in Ear: An object in the ear may be dislodged by lowering the side of the head on which the object is located and gently patting the other side of the head.

Object in Throat: If a person with an object caught in his throat can still breathe and cough, encourage him or her to try and cough the object out on his/her own. If unable to remove the object but he/she can still breathe sufficiently, have him/her assume a position most comfortable for him/her until medical help arrives. If the object completely obstructs the airway, emergency medical attention must be obtained immediately! A person trained in first aid or CPR is able to administer back blows and abdominal thrusts as taught.

Fainting: This is due to insufficient blood in the cerebrum (large lobe of the brain). Have patient lie down and be very calm. If patient gives some warning that this is about to happen then put his head between his knees. This will let the blood rush to his head and then have patient lie very still until help arrives.

Snake Bite: Get nurse immediately! Unless you are qualified, DO NOT ATTEMPT TO DO ANYTHING. Try to identify the snake. If you have killed it, take it with patient for professional help in identifying the snake.

Bee Sting: Removing a stinger may be hard to do and you are better off to send the patient to the nurse without doing anything yourself. Unless the patient is in distress because of a generalized reaction, the stinger may be removed immediately by scraping with a very sharp object or if some type of tweezers is available, it may be removed by gently picking up the stinger and then pulling straight up.

Ticks: If one should happen to be found, it needs to be removed right away, making sure you get all of it. Sometimes a particle of a tick has become imbedded into the skin. Rub gently with soap and water and then apply alcohol.

First aid is the act of giving quick and correct emergency care to those who are sick or hurt. It is not necessary to be a medical expert to do this. In an injury or sickness, there is much that can be done to ease the pain and the discomfort of the patient until professional help arrives. Do not try to do more than you are qualified to do! Try to keep the patient and GET THE NURSE IMMEDIATELY! The greater number certified in the American Red Cross Standard First Aid and CPR, the safer our camp will be. I encourage all staff members to take these courses. You can save a life.
